

Stanford Clinical Teaching Program for Physician Educators

Presented by

Jennie Hsu-Lumetta, M.D.
Faculty Development Director
Clinical Assistant Professor
UICOM-UC, Department of Medicine

- Who: Clinical faculty interested in improving their clinical teaching skills
- When: Wednesdays, August 30 – October 18, 2006 from 6:00 – 8:00 pm for eight 2-hour sessions
- Where: Carle Forum, 611 W. Park Street, Urbana, IL
- What: Each session consists of a short presentation, review of videotapes and use of role-plays

Learning Objectives:

1. Identify the elements of the Stanford Clinical Teaching educational framework.
2. Analyze clinical teaching encounters using the educational framework.
3. Integrate the educational framework in improving clinical teaching encounters.

Sixteen Category 1 CME credits available

To enroll, please call Jaime Blakley at 383-4114 or email her at jcpalmer@uiuc.edu.

The University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) College of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) College of Medicine designates this educational activity for a maximum of 16 (Sixteen) AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.